GRAND JURY HOLDS WOMEN ARRESTED IN VICE CRUSADE.

Seven Inmates of Twelfth Street Place Are Indicted and Seventeen Others Are Sent to Police Court for Trial-President Hawes of the Police Board Defends the Department Before the Grand Jury of the Charge That Immoral Houses Were Officially Protected.

EXPECTED WARRANTS FOR POLICEMEN ARE NOT YET ISSUED.

Linden and Morgan, on North Twelfth street, were indicted yesterday by Grand Jury on charges of immorality.

houses, were locked up after they had been called before the Grand Jury and will be sent to the Second District Police Court this morning.

President Harry B. Hawes of the Board of Police Commissioners was a witness before the Grand Jury in the afternoon. Mr.
Hawes was annoyed by the reflection upon

HAWES ABKS CONSIDERATION FOR HONEST MEMBERS OF FORCE.

Mr. Hawes declared that he did not believe it right for the whole department to suffer for the misdeeds, neglect of duty or offenses of a few members of the force, and offered the Grand Jury his assistance in bringing those who may be guilty of any such charges to justice.

A resolution passed by the Board of Police Commissioners, calling attention to the large number of policemen and admitting that among these there might be some who have been negligent, was presented to the Grand Jury. It asked that an investigation be made of the department.

"I am informed," said Mr. Hawes after his appearance before the Grand Jury, "that the Police Department is not under investigation, but that these immoral resorts alone are being inquired into. For that reason I think it entirely unfair for any person to charge the entire department with some offense that may or may not have been committed by no more than half a dozen of its members. In fact, I do not believe any of the policemen are guilty."

Circuit Attorney Folk, in reply to this that among these there might be some who have been negligent, was presented to the Grand Jury. It asked that an investigation be made of the department.

NONE GUILTY WILL ESCAPE.

Circuit Attorney Folk, in reply to this statement from Hawes, said that it was the aim of the Grand Jury and himself to investigate violations of the law whenever and wherever they are found, and that if policemen get in the way of this investigation they must take the consequences.

Other witnesses declared that the Soviners placed a price on the heads of young girls who were brought to them. It is said they would pay the person bringing them as high as $50. From this the price ranged downward to $5.

This is the same method that the brothers are said to have used in New York, from which city they were run out by District Attorney Jerome.

Evidence has been obtained to substantiate the charges already preferred, but it has not been easy to get. The seven women indicted yesterday, who were interested in the syndicate, were among the witnesses examined. SPORTS APPAULE OF VERDICT. an Francisco Experts Say Grancy's San Francisco Experts Say Grancy's Decision Was Fair to Both Men. RSPUBLIC SPECIAL.

San Francisco. Cal., Feb. 27.—There were no big Eastern sporting men at the ringside last night, but the consensus of opinion among fair-minded local and State sports who know the game is that the decision was fair.

A small body of local followers of Hanlon declared the decision rotten because their man had the better of Corbett in the last four rounds, but when both men were fighting strongly in the twentieth the referree could have given no other decision.

The secret of Corbett's showing, especially have weakened himself.

Those who have seen him fight in the East declared that his blows lacked steam and that he seemed slower than in his fight with McGovern. According to ring parlance, Young Corbett is a gentleman.

"The decision satisfies me." he said. "Eddie Hanlon is a good boy, a hard fighter and a coming candidate for championship honors. I do not care about talking after a battle has been fought, but I will say that I will take Hanlon en again if opportunity is offered. I promise on the next occasion to improve on the showing I made tonight."

"I am satisfied with the result, but on to improve on the showing I made tonight."

"I am satisfied with the result, but on looking over the battle I can see where I might have won by knocking my man out through a change of attack," said Hanion.
"I had Corbeit going in the eighth round and would have kept up a fast pace, had not my seconds advised me against rushing affairs, as I had the mill already won. I am satisfied I can whip Corbeit and will be pleased to meet him in a return match."

ASKS TO BE WIFE'S GUARDIAN. Mrs. Oscar Gamache's Is Only Sev enteen Years Old.

An interesting legal question was raised yesterday by the application of Oscar Gamache of No. 434 St. Louis avenue, to be appointed guardian for his wife. Margaret, if years old.

She and her brothers, James and Edward, and her sister, Gertrude Maginniss, are heirs to a small estate. Margaret is the oldest. Their parents are dead.

The guardian who had charge of the estate, which consists of a fund of $60, was recently removed. Gamache desired to be made guardian of the three.

Probate Clerk Bruce Starke, to whom the application was made, was not sure but that the appointment of Gamache as guardian of his wife's estate would conflict with the provisions of the law relating to a married woman's rights.

He said the matter would have to be referred to Probate Judge Crews, whose court is not in session.
